ELEMENTARY SCHOOL IQ SCORES TOP NAT. AVG.

The results of the IQ and basic skills tests given last fall to students in the Jefferson Elementary School District were released at Monday night's study meet of the elementary school board.

Comparisons made from the test scores indicate two basic tendencies:

1) In almost all areas of basic skills (reading, spelling, arithmetic, etc.), students in the Jefferson district are ahead of the national average.

2) Within the district itself, there is a definite tendency for students in schools west of Junipero Serra boulevard to score higher than students east of the boulevard.

The California Test of Mental Maturity (IQ) was given last fall to district children in grades three, five and seven. The basic skills test (Iowa) was given to students in grades four through eight.

The range of IQ's in the district was from 48 to 166. Medians were 109 for the third grade, 107 for the fifth grade and 105 for the seventh grade.

Junior high school students at Benjamin Franklin had a median score of 109; students at Colma Junior High attained a median of 101 (the median is that score which halves the total number of scores).

District Superintendent Richard Foster commented on the difference. "In reality we seem to have two districts in one. The difference in background that exists between the children living east of Junipero Serra, and those living west of Junipero Serra provides for the difference in scores."

Foster pointed out that attention is being given to methods of handling both the unusually slow youngster and the gifted child.

Remedial classes of a smaller number have been suggested for the slow student. For the gifted, possibilities include additional library work, science study and classes on Saturday.

IOWA TESTS

The Iowa Test of basic skills is a test of achievement that measures competence in three major areas of verbal ability, mathematical ability and research ability (usage of reference maps, graphs and tables).

The tests indicated that by the time the Jefferson district elementary child reached the eighth grade he had passed the national average in all areas but language usage, and scored highest on the capitalization test. There were no wide deviations from the national norm.

In arithmetic, Benjamin Franklin eighth graders attained an average score of 8.42; Colma eighth graders an average of 7.99. National average is 8.1. Verbally, Franklin students recorded 8.52 and Colma students 7.77.

THE MEANING

The significance of the scores is indicated in the preface of the report presented by Superintendent Foster to the school board:

"The (IQ) test is largely a test of verbal ability. Good

School District Tax Election Is Feb. 6

The first tax increase election in the Jefferson Union High School District in 15 years will be held Tuesday, Feb. 6.

Polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. There are 35,000 registered voters in the district.

Voters will be asked to endorse a raise of the High School District General Purpose tax rate from $1.35 to $2 per $100 assessed valuation.

Superintendent Edward Morgan said the money is needed to hire additional teachers, staff Oceana High School when it opens its doors next September, purchase additional textbooks and materials and complete all of the district's schools.

The tax increase would mean a cost to each homeowner of $6.50 per year for each $1,000 of assessed valuation.

Over 2,200 persons, including a large cross section of labor, business and professional organizations, city councils and outside independent groups have given what Morgan called "the largest endorsement on record" to the tax issue.

The High School District office will record the election results and have them available by about 8 p.m. Feb. 6. For information call PL 5-1162.

Largest bulk of the work of organizational election was done by the Jefferson Union High School "Citizens Committee for Quality Education." This group presented the program to the people through

DC Firemen Save Youth From Tide

Gerald Bloom, 20, of 67 Castilljo drive, Daly City, was feeling fine Jan. 25, but "a little nervous" after firemen rescued him from the high tide at Mussle Rock beach by pulling him up a 200 foot cliff.

Bloom, a stock man at the Mayfair Market, Daly City, went down to the beach on a bicycle and decided he would lower himself to the beach with a rope. The rope was short some 40 feet and Gerald said he "slipped" and fell the rest of the way.

Soft sand on the beach deadened his fall. Then, Gerald said, he realized he was trapped as the tide began coming in.

Two men on the cliff above spotted Bloom, told him to wait and called Pacifica firemen, who in turn, relayed the call to Daly City authorities.

Fire Captain Alan Brush, Batallion Chief Wayne Alexander and fireman David Gash lowered fireman John Martin down the 200 foot cliff using a rope winch on a Jeep and hauled Bloom up to safety.

The save came at high tide at 2:35 p.m. Bloom was high up on a rock out of the waves when rescued.

Runaway Boys Are Blamed For Car Thefts

Broadmoor police were having their troubles last week with six runaway Westmoor High School youths who left home after being picked up by police on car theft and vandalism charges.

It all started Jan. 24 when three missing boys were being chased on foot by Officer Al Nickas. Two of the youths were rounded up, one walking on San Pedro avenue and another on Washington street.

They admitted stealing a car from near the new Safeway store in St. Francis Heights and also admitted a car theft in November from in front of Junipero Serra Hospital. Also they admitted slashing a convertible top Jan. 22 in an attempt at car theft and admitted some hubcap thefts.

The youths, were issued juvenile citations and released to their parents. Two of the boys had implicated a third youth, a 15-year-old Westmoor sophomore. All three were seen walking down Washington street Friday morning by Officer Nickas.

He ran after them and they escaped, leaving behind a leather overnight bag containing a .38 caliber revolver and personal belongings. The bag was stashed under a house at

WHO WILL MAKE A HOME?

The search is on for a Daly City family to provide a home for an overseas student who will visit Daly City for a year to attend Westmoor High.

The visiting student will be sponsored by the new local chapter of the American Field Service, and will be brought to Daly City in time for the fall 1962 semester at Westmoor.

The idea is for the host family to act as the parents of the visiting youngster, and treat him much as they would their own son or daughter. Preferably the family should have a boy or girl currently a sophomore or junior at Westmoor.

Travel expenses are all paid by AFS, but the local family is to provide meals, counsel and local transportation.

Former Daly City Policeman Dies

James Baird, Jr., former Daly City policeman, died in a Cleveland, Ohio, hospital Tuesday, making successful his January 12 suicide attempt.

Baird was arrested in Novato, Calif., on Dec. 11, on a charge of molesting the nine-year-old daughter of a Marin County deputy sheriff with whom he formerly worked.

He fled from authorities and went to Cleveland, where on January 12 he was thwarted in an attempt to rob a bank in a Cleveland suburb of Mayfield Heights. Twenty minutes later he turned the hold-up gun on himself and inflicted the fatal wound.

He worked as a Daly City patrolman in 1954 and joined the Sausalito police department in 1955. He then became a Marin County deputy, a position he held until 1959.

McKeon Asks Sanitation Dist. For St. Francis Heights OK

Chris McKeon showed up at a recent meeting of the North San Mateo County Sanitation District to tell the directors that he thought the St. Francis Heights pumping station was soon to be inadequate.

McKeon's firm, Zita Corporation, is planning construction of a shopping center and six new apartment buildings in the area, and he wants assurance that the sanitation district's facilities are sufficient to accommodate the new units.

At present the St. Francis Heights pumping station is designed to accommodate 2,800 homes. McKeon fears that because of the Westborough and the Christen usage of the facilities, the capacity may be reached, and his new units will be threatened with back-up and stoppage.

He submitted a letter to the directors stating that he wanted "Written assurance from the sanitation board that the installation by the Zita Corporation was and is adequate to properly take care of present needs, and any additional hook-up will be the sole responsibility of the sanitation board."

Board chairman Frank Pacelli told McKeon that the Zita Corporation would not be held responsible if the units caused stoppage, and that when the sanitation district accepted the St. Francis Heights pumping station, and its capacity of 2,800 homes, it accepted responsibility for performance.

Pacelli pointed out that inclusion of the Westborough County Water District and Christen in the district is temporary, and that the board has the right to tell them, "you have to start building a plant."

Director Verducci stated, "We have a prior responsibility to those areas which were in the district before we accepted Westborough homes." He then asked McKeon to accept Pacelli's statement that the ultimate responsibility is primarily for the area in the district prior to Westborough homes.

VISTA GRANDE TUNNEL

The board read a letter from Reuben Owens, public works director for San Francisco, inquiring into the sewer flow through the Vista Grande tunnel.

New Liebes Store Hires DC Women

Present plans indicate that H. Liebes' Westlake baby, their new store, that is, may arrive ahead of schedule.

"We believe that the store will be ready to present to the public on February 21," Sidney Liebes, president of the 98-year-old San Francisco firm, announced today.

"The drawing for our baby who is to win a christening party, will be a day later. February 23, to be exact, due to the fact that we will be closed on Washington's Birthday."

During the past weeks, 160 women from the Daly City area have been interviewed for possible jobs in the new store.

How many will get the coveted sales jobs? "About 50," says Virginia Moore, personnel manager for the three Liebes specialty shops.

Miss Moore, who thinks that time is one of the most precious commodities in a working woman's life, is emphasizing her belief by hiring only local women. "Women are more relaxed and good humored when they don't have to spend hours traveling to and from work. They know the community and dress accordingly. It costs them less to work, too. We have a very close, warm, family-type operation. People like to work in our stores. The number of applicants has been most gratifying."

Barbara Gray, who will manage the Westlake store, expressed her delight at the "high caliber" of the women who have applied for work. "Retailing is an exciting, stimulating profession," she says, "with plenty of opportunities to get ahead if you are able."

The road will be relinquished to Daly City upon completion of the repairs.

Armed Robbery At Daly City Grocery Store

A slender, nervous young man gripping an automatic pistol held up Moon's Grocery, 202 School street Daly City at 10:18 a.m., Sunday Jan. 28 and escaped with $130.

He walked into the store, and told the proprietor, Moon S. Lew, 1045 Balboa street, "act like I'm a customer and you are giving me change."

He opened his coat and was gripping an automatic pistol stuck in the front of his pants. Then he told Moon to give him currency and halves and quarters and to go into the back room with his wife and child and not use the phone for 10 minutes.

Moon reported the holdup man appeared very nervous and had a twitch. Moon called police after staying the full 10 minutes in the back room.

The suspect was reported as 22 years old, 5 foot seven inches tall, 135 pounds with slender build, black thin hair and heavy beard. He was wearing a brown jacket, stiped T shirt and grey pants.

and Scout leaders will take salutes from the marchers.

Kendree, top aide in the Henry Doelger Development complex, puts great emphasis on the importance of scouting. Two sons, U. R. Kendree, Jr., and Jack, both became Eagle Scouts. The eldest son's activities were brought to the attention of officials during the 1935 Washington Jamboree. It resulted in an offer to attend West Point. He accepted the appointment, graduating in 1949. Thereafter he was sent to Korea, from which he emerged with a Silver Star for bravery.

The younger son, Jack, has had a fine business career; a degree in engineering, and a master's in architecture from Columbia University. He now operates his own planning and consulting business.

Scout leaders from all parts of the state will be here to review the Tri-District Parade, Johnson said.

Camp Fire Girls Plan Candy Sale

The good ship "Sweet Tooth" docks in Daly City on Friday, Feb. 2, as hundreds of local Camp Fire Girls, Blue Birds and Horizon Club members launch their annual Camp Fire Girls candy sale.

Dressed in colorful service costumes of the natonal youth organization, the pert young ladies are each armed with red, white and blue mint kits, each holding six $1 boxes of the traditional chocolate-covered Camp Fire mints available only during this special sale.

The Camp Fire Girls has for more than half a century offered American girls activities which fulfill its law—worship God, seek beauty, give service, pursue knowledge, be trustworthy, hold on to health, glorify work and be happy.

Open to girls of every race, color and economic background from 2nd grade through high school age, the main purpose of Camp Fire Girls is to perpetuate the spiritual ideals of the home and to stimulate and aid in the forming of good habits for health and character.

Support for the local youth organization comes largely from funds received from the United Crusade. However, as is true with many growing youth organizations, additional funds are needed to support summer resident camps, community day camps and to supplement the general operating budget.

Goals in the annual sale, which continues through February 24, are 35,000 $1 boxes of the traditional chocolate-covered Camp Fire mints.

He was subsequently transferred to San Franciso police on other stolen property warrants.

IT IS YOUR DUTY!

Tuesday, February 6, is the date set for the High School Tax Election. It is your duty as a voter and a citizen, whether for or against the proposition, to cast a vote at this election — for only when all of the qualified voters exercise their franchise at the polls do we have true Democracy.

This issue must be decided by the electorate at the polls — and this newspaper urges you to be sure to cast your ballot on Tuesday, February 6.

Here and There — -

Cheaper By The Dozen

The snow has gone (even the little we had), the ever reliable California sun has taken over (it shines through the mere wisp of smog) and it is spring again. What else tells us? Why it is the time for proclamations!

This week proclamations have been coming out of city hall on an assembly line basis — a sure sign of Spring. Who would want to issue proclamations in the middle of winter or summer. That's not the correct timing at all. Proclamations must be made in the Springtime, or they lost their effect.

And — why not by the dozen? They say it's better that way.

League Of Women Voters

This month the League of Women Voters of San Francisco announced that they will continue their investigation into the condition of local finances. In December they reviewed the general governing and money-raising power of cities, counties and special districts. They also gave their attention to property taxes — real and personal.

During the month they propose to discuss other sources of local revenue, the pros and cons of present bonding capacities of cities and counties and the use of state funds for local purposes.

An excerpt from the California Voter was quoted: "Local governments which seem to have problems making ends meet may not be poor at all. They are poor only in imaginative solutions to their revenue problems. They also compete with their jurisdictions for available funds without giving enough consideration to joining forces."

Good work, ladies — carry on!

Defense Training Classes

A series of 24 radiological defense training classes will be held throughout California during February and March.

As a result of these and earlier classes, about 700 emergency fallout measurement stations throughout the state will be equipped with instruments obtained from the Department of Defense. At least two trained personnel will be assigned to each station.

The course includes general orientation to the effects of modern weapons, effects of fallout radiation, use of radiation detection instruments, and protective measures.

The classes are primarily intended for personnel designated by state agencies to man fallout monitoring stations equipped with radiation instrument kits.

Classes are slated for March 6, 7 and 8 at the armory n San Mateo.

COUNTY DOINGS

by JACK WOOD

In a world seemingly split by minority groups and factions, rights and lefts, and religions vs. religions, it is interesting to note that our upholders of the law, the police, consider themselves a minority group also.

"Anyone in police work soon finds he's a person apart. The nature of his job, the hours, and other factors of necessity limit his social life," says Undersheriff Wesley A. Pomeroy of San Mateo county.

Lack of opportunity to communicate with a wide range of people was another reason cited by Pomeroy as the reason for police arriving at this status.

The Pacific Ocean was no peaceful name at all last week to Daly City and San Mateo youths caught in uncompromising circumstances by the tide.

On Thursday, Andrew Wood, 17, of San Mateo, fell from his surf board on Rockaway Beach and was rescued by helicopter. The same day, firemen plucked Joseph Bloom, 20, of Daly City, using a jeep and a winch, from a rock on Mussel Rock where he was trapped by the tide.

The proposed San Mateo-Hayward bridge is described as "a thin, strong ribbon with a graceful curve . . . a beautiful bridge." Work is underway at the east end of the $70,000,000 bridge. The span will be six lanes wide and single decked. There will be no superstructure.

Construction of a sea wall similar to the one at San Francisco beach might be the answer to Pacifica's problem of a receeding shoreline, according to Pacifica councilman Harold Feyge. The problem is so critical, he said, that at one point the shoreline in the vicinity of Pedro avenue has receeded more than 100 feet due to wave action in the past 35 years. Other areas have receeded as much as 84 feet and some backyards and even homes in the northern part of the city are getting to the point where they will soon be threatened.

The Army Corps of Engineers has been asked by Congressman J. Arthur Younger to make a survey of the situation.

FIRE ACTS

This article is written by Daly City firemen and is published in this paper with the purpose of keeping the public informed about their fire department.

Last week we mentioned a few of the basic problems the nation's fire departments must solve before they are adequately prepared to meet the aftermath of nuclear warfare.

This week we would like to quote from the National Board of Fire Underwriters Special Interest Bulletin regarding city building codes and family fallout shelters.

"The only known means of protecting man against lethal fallout radiation is interposing a suitable barrier between him and the radiation. It is for this purpose that shelter areas are designated in buildings of public occupancy and the government encourages installation of fallout shelters by private citizens on their property.

"Application of building codes to family fallout shelters has led to occasional difficulties in issuing building permits. Basic to such difficulties are the physical requirements for effective fallout shelters.

"Effective fallout shelters must have certain minimum thicknesses of shielding materials, have means of egress that can be closed, have means of waste disposal that do not require occupants to leave the protection of shelters, have means of ventilation that introduces the minimum amount of radiation, and must be suitable of habitation for a period of two weeks. These requirements can conflict with provisions of building ordinances dealing with habitable structures.

"Building ordinances have evolved through the years to protect the health and well-being of the public. Central to protecting the health and well-being of the public are building ordinance provisions for adequate ventilation, lighting and waste removal. The design of fallout shelters does not conform with the provisions of most building codes for minimum light, ventilation and waste removal.

"It is obvious that existing building codes were not developed to deal with the problems of safeguarding life in fallout shelters. In fact, application of code provisions for ventilation, or application of code provisions for natural lighting requiring minimum window areas would reduce the protection provided by the shelter; while application of code provisions would be unrealistic.

"Fallout shelters are not intended to be occupied on a permanent or continuous basis and are not adapted to such use. They are not considered as buildings under the National Building Code as, by definition, buildings must be 'adapted to permanent or continuous occupancy.' Accordingly, fallout shelters can be considered as structures, rather than buildings, thereby relieving them of the necessity for complying with the code provisions on light and ventilation and of having toilet facilities in separate rooms. In order for shelters to serve the purpose for which they are intended, it is essential that they be constructed to have adequate structural stability. Application of the structural provisions of the National Build-Code will provide the necessary stability.

"It is recommended that the National Building Code be interpreted to permit the erection of fallout shelters either as separate structures or within buildings when they comply with the suggested or accepted designs of the Office of Civil Defense and are used or intended to be used only in the event of emergency.

"Building inspectors desiring to determine whether a shelter design is one proposed by or acceptable to the Office of Civil Defense may submit the plans to the Department of Defence, Office of Civil Defense, Washington, D. C."

During the week of Jan. 15 to Jan. 21, your fire department responded to the following calls:

Lockout, 6; miscellaneous, 8; false alarms, 6; house fires, 6; rubbish fires, 1; resuscitation, 1; dryer, 1; oven, 1; needless calls, 3; auto accident, 1; first aid, 1. Total 35.

LAW IN ACTION

SALES TAX SAVINGS

Penny watchers: Note some recent changes in the tax laws. Last fall the state printed a new schedule for sales tax reimbursement for retailers.

The law since 1933 puts the sales tax on the retailer who in turn passes it on to the buyer. But whether he collects sales tax reimbursement from the buyers or not, the seller must pay a four per cent tax to the state and city on all taxable sales. Thus the man who sells 10-cent coffee all day and never collects sales tax reimbursement, still owes a tax to the state on his gross sales.

As a rule, the new tax schedule favors buyers more than the old schedules did. Under it, you pay one per cent sales tax reimbursement on a 13 cent purchase, and roughly add another one cent for each additional 25 cents. Each retailer posts the schedule in sight.

Under the law the retailer usually adds up all the taxable items bought at one time and charges the sales tax on them all. In any one sale of both taxable and non-taxable items, he cannot collect sales tax on each item separately if the customer asks that he figure sales tax reimbursement on the total cost of the taxable items. You may still have to pay sales tax on separate items if you buy them in different departments of a store.

Sometimes a businessman may mistakenly charge you sales tax reimbursement on labor for installation of property or some other non-taxable item: In installing draperies, for example, he may charge you sales tax reimbursement on the service of installation as well as on the material. If so, get your sales tax reimbursement back. If you don't the state makes him pay it to the state anyway. The state takes any retailer's gain in over-collection of sales tax reimbursement.

Starting January 1, 1962, the law exempts prescription drugs from sales tax.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

Food For Thought

By the Daly City Ministerial Association

Americans are so accustmed to reading of strife and turmoil in every part of the world, that it is almost impossible to believe that rays of sunshine do appear from time to time, indicating that there exists a ray of hope that Brotherhood and Peace among men will some day be a reality rather than a dream.

One place that is infested with malice and hatred is the Middle East. Come Christmas and the gates of brotherhood are opened. All who believe in the Prince of Peace are allowed to cross the borders in order to reach the birth place of the Prince of Peace and to pay homage to the philosophy that He preached.

The City of Bethlehem becomes an open city to those who believe in Him and for a fleeting moment all hatred and strife ceases and thousands of people who come to witness the cradle of peace are given a chance to worship and pay homage to a religious philosophy so new and so dear to people of the Western Civilization.

These precious moments and hours, while the ferocious guns on both sides of the border remain silent are moments of solace and prayer where thousands of pilgrims of varius countries and nationalities are gathered to pray, asking for a long moratorium on hatred and strife.

It is so difficult to understand the nature of man. Why can we have peace and understanding when we really want to abandon the very same hope at all other times?

I am sure that the people of Israel after having experienced the dark days of Hitlerism would be the first ones to yield ground and open the gates of the Holy Land to those who seek Peace and Brotherhood in the name of Christianity, even though it is not the state religion of modern Israel.

The Jewish people are sincere enough and democratic enough to realize that, as a people, they stand more to gain rather than to lose by opening the gates of their country to people of other lands who seek prayer and condolence at the grave of the Prince of Peace.

The Arabs, too, realize that they who are Mohammedans by religion cannot affront the feelings of hundreds of millions of people of the Christian religion in order to invite the animosity and the hatred of European peoples against them.

Meanwhile, the gates of the city of Jerusalem are open on both sides and thousands of people, from all corners of the earth, pass through without any difficulties to the place which they seek to visit.

Arabs and Jews become partners in that one undertaking, even though for only a while, and nurture thusly a way of life and philosophy so dear to so many millions of people.

Soon, very soon, Daly City will observe Brotherhood Week — a custom which was established many years ago by men of good will who are interested in preserving the harmony between Americans of various ethnological and religious origins.

We are the descendants of those pioneers of American stock — be they Jewish, Catholic or Protestants! We, too, wish to follow in the footsteps of those pioneers and openly declare that according to the Constitution of the United States there are no masters and no slaves, no superiors and no inferiors, that all of us are equal before the law.

In these days of turmoil and strife when the world is divided into various camps, with each side teaching and preaching its own ideologies and philosophies of life, it would do us Americans good to know and to teach the A, B, C's of reality, and that is that there exists a true bond of friendship between all Americans. That one cast of American society is not above any other segment or caste of American society. The Jew, the Catholic and the Protestant must visualize and believe that he is but an integral part of the sum total of the American society.

It takes a lot of pride and willpower to come down to this lowest common denominator but, once one comes down to earth it is possible to create a common atmosphere of democracy and Brotherhood anywhere in the world.

Something For Everyone

by Samuel Chandler

For the information and the pleasure of their fellow citizens, a number of spirited groups have presented material to the Daly City Public Library.

One of the most interesting books thus presented is Wo-He-Lo, a gift of the Peninsula Council of the Camp Fire Girls. This is the story of an organization that originated with men and women who recognized that the enshrinement of beauty and creative activity is an eternal need of adolescent girls.

Another book comes from the Daly City Local of the National Association of Letter Carriers. It is William C. Doherty's Mailman U. S. A. Here is a salute to the patient, efficient mailman who marches the streets in his gray uniform delivering the nation's mail. "He," says the author, is the personification of the greatest system of communications ever devised by the human mind.

From the Cecil B. DeMille Trust comes the Autobiography of Cecil B. DeMille. This is the story of a showman who left his mark upon America. It was presented with the hope that it will be educational service, as well as of general interest to the readers of Daly City.

Still another volume that has been presented is J. Edgar Hoover's Masters of Deceit: the Story of Communism in America. Three copies of this book have been presented by three different groups. These, together with the one the library purchased in 1958 when the book was published, are being widely circulated to the patrons of the Daly City Public Library.

Gifts to the Daly City Public Library may be received by the City Librarian who will accept those that conform to the gift policy of the Public Library Commission. Groups of private persons who desire to present books to the library are urged to call the City Librarian at PLaza 5-0850, extension 30.

Questions and Answers

Next Tuesday, Feb. 6, the residents of the Jefferson Union High School District will have an opportunity to cast a vote of confidence in one of California's best run educational systems.

During the past few weeks, this column has asked and answered 15 vital questions pertaining to next Tuesday's election. Today it will attempt to summarize the past four articles, with the hope that every registered voter will be more intelligently informed when casting a ballot on Tuesday.

WHY IS THE ELECTION NECESSARY:

Answer: The district's present operational tax of $1.35 will not raise sufficient funds to finance the present educational program.

WHEN WAS THE LAST HIGH SCHOOL OPERATIONAL TAX ELECTION HELD:

Answer: The February 6 election will be the FIRST operational tax increase election held in the high school district in 15 years!

WHY DOES THE HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT NEED MORE MONEY?

Answer: When the present $1.35 operational tax was first levied in 1947, the district had one high school, enrolling 778 students. This year with three schools in operation, the district has enrolled 4,261 students. More money is needed to:

Hire additional teachers—15-20 each year—just to keep up with increasing enrollments.

Purchase new and/or additional text books, library books and educational supplies for four high schools—Oceana High School will join Jefferson, Westmoor and Terra Nova high schools in September, 1962.

Continue present program and policies.

HOW DOES THE HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT'S PRESENT OPERATIONAL TAX RATE COMPARE WITH THE OTHER SAN MATEO COUNTY SCHOOLS?

Answer: The district's present $1.35 is the LOWEST elementary or high school, legal maximum operational tax rate levied.

HOW DOES THE HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT'S EDUCATIONAL COSTS COMPARE WITH OTHER HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICTS?

Answer: The district has the LOWEST cost per A. D. A. of all high school districts in San Mateo County.

IS THE DISTRICT ATTRACTING AND RETAINING COMPETENT TEACHERS?

Answer: Yes. According to the California Teachers Association, the Jefferson Union High School District, for career teachers, has the second best salary schedule in Alameda, Contra Costa, San Francisco, San Mateo and Santa Clara counties.

HOW IS IT POSSIBLE FOR A SCHOOL DISTRICT TO HAVE THE LOWEST COST PER A.D.A. AND THE SECOND HIGHEST SALARY SCHEDULE?

Answer: The Trustees of the High School district believe that instruction is the heart and soul of a quality educational program. This year 66½% of the district's budgeted expenditures have been allocated to "instruction" — only 2½% to "administration."

WILL THE ADDITIONAL MONEY DERIVED FROM THIS TAX ELECTION BE USED TO BUILD CLASSROOMS?

Answer: No. Money to buy land and build classrooms will come from the sale of district bonds and from the State of California. The money derived from this election will be used to educate students, hire teachers, buy textbooks, supplies, etc.

IF THE $2.00 GENERAL PURPOSE TAX RATE IS APPROVED, WILL THE TRUSTEES LEVY THE FULL AMOUNT?

Answer: Yes. Every cent will be needed to meet the district's obligations, if the present program of quality education is to be continued.

DOES THE HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT SPEND OPERATIONAL TAX MONEY IN ADDITION TO BOND FUNDS AND MONEY RECEIVED FROM THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA, TO BUILD AND EQUIP SCHOOLS?

Answer: The district does not spend operational tax money to build its schools. It does spend operational tax money, in addition to State money, to adequately equip its schools. Examples: Library books, scientific equipment, outdoor educational facilities, maintenance and operational equipment, etc.

HOW DOES THE HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT'S EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM COMPARE WITH OTHER DISTRICTS?

Answer: The quality of the educational program of the Jefferson Union High School District is excellent. Standardized tests (National Defense Education Act Research Project, 1961) revealed that our students equal or exceed both state and national norms. The record of the district's graduates in university or college has been outstanding. Industry has forwarded to the district many kind and flattering letters about former students. Last summer, the district's faculty was awarded more study scholarships than any other high school district in our area. Each of the district's schools meets the criteria that has been established for a sound "Comprehensive High School" program. A program designed to meet the needs of our students.

IF I VOTE "YES," HOW MUCH PER DAY AND/OR YEAR WILL IT COST ME?

Answer: $6.50 per year (1.8 cents per day) for each $1,000 of assessed valuation.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN IF THE FEBRUARY 6 (NEXT TUESDAY'S) ELECTION FAILS?

Answer: The trustees have not decided on the action that would be necessary if the February 6 election fails. It is inconceiveable that the citizens of this district will turn down the modest tax inasmuch as this request comes from the taxing agency with the best tax record in the entire Bay area. If the election fails, the trustees must balance next year's expenditures with income. The high school program, the quality of which is known and recognized, will be drastically modified and curtailed.

REGULARS AND RESERVISTS attending brush-up course in first-aid. The reservists remind that they hold the annual policeman's ball this year on St. Patrick's Day, March 17, in Colma's Colombo Hall. Any member of the force can sell you a ticket. Proceeds go for purchase of new equipment.

OFFICER AL NICKAS goes over some fingerprints in the squad room. The squad room was formerly a kitchen in this converted house.

CLERK-DISPATCHER Police Matron Jean Keller at the main office dispatcher's desk. Broadmoor has operated its own radio since 1956.

By Jim Goldsborough

This story is about the Broadmoor Police District —the last police district in the State of California.

A police district is an entity established by an unincorporated area to take the place of the police protection provided by the county — the sheriff's office. The area schedules an election, elects commissioners, and gets a police department. Even though there is no city.

Broadmoor's district was formed 13 years ago, in 1949. The residents of Broadmoor, a community of about 3,500 tucked tightly onto a peninsula of land poking up along Junipero Serra boulevard, joined with the residents of the Colma area and decided that the added protection would be worth the additional cost.

An election was held at county election time and a tax rate of one-half of one per cent of assessed property valuation was established. That amounts to about $25 for a $20,000 home.

Chief of Police at the Broadmoor department is Ray Savage, a brisk, genial man who has been running his district since 1953, Four patrolmen and one clerk-dispatcher round out the regular force. In addition, 15 reservists — non-paid private citizens— augment the department for night duty. A reservist rides beside a regular every night, providing two-man patrols for each car.

This police station is certainly the only one of its kind around. Originally it was a private home — one of those tidy little stucco bungalows like almost anybody owns — with ivy in the front, a nice sunny facade, picture window, and a driveway running back to the family garage.

That was once. Now what was a bedroom is the chief's office, a living room the main desk, bathroom an interrogation room, back porch a photo lab, kitchen a squad room and dining room the commissioners' meeting room.

But from the outside it still looks like the homely little house it once was, all except for a large sign on the roof that states tersely BROADMOOR POLICE.

For anyone who enjoys the shroud of secrecy — or perhaps just privacy — any of the north county police departments would be a good place to avoid.

Everybody up here knows what everybody else is doing, and Broadmoor is hardly an exception. Chief Savage monitors all Daly City police activity, and by working on the same frequency as Pacifica, South City, and Colma all action in these cities is picked up.

If any miscreant believes in perpetrating some foul deed, then skipping quickly over the border to the sanctity of another city, alas, he's in for a shock.

The way the boys play it around here, it's all one big city.

When the Broadmoor Police District bought its building, back in 1955, there wasn't the slightest intention of using it for the station. In fact, the only reason the building was purchased at all was to invest the money that the county had allocated for the year —and would have taken back at the end of the year if unused.

But then the legalists informed Savage that the building couldn't be sold without an election. The ugly head of the red tape monster began to loom. Rather than wait till another election was scheduled, the commissioners took another look at their building. It was decided that the house could be converted, and work began.

Evidently believing that if you want something done, do it yourself, Broadmoor also operates its own ambulance service, and receives and relays all fire calls to the Colma Fire District.

When someone calls in for an ambulance, the dispatcher, Jean Keller, sends out a call to the nearest patrolman, who comes in, jumps out of his police car, into the waiting ambulance, and is off to the rescue.

It isn't quite the same with fires, but on a bright red phone hanging on the wall directly beneath the house phone, all calls for fire help are received, and relayed via radio to the Colma Fire District.

It all works to prefection, according to the chief, and he couldn't be happier.

And neither could the Broamoor citizen.

Through interaction with all neighboring departments, the Broadmoor Police District provides the resident with extensive service. Add to this the service of the ambulance and the fire dispatching and the Broadmoor citizen is well getting his taxpaying nickel's worth.

Spring Semester Adult Evening School Begins

Interesting Classes Scheduled

Registration for the opening of the Spring Semester Adult Evening School will begin on Monday, Feb. 5, at Westmoor, Jefferson and Terra Nova high schools, it was announced this week by Principal Louis J. Martin.

Two brochures have been prepared and are now available on request explaining details concerning class schedules as well as descriptions of all classes. Last week more than 3,500 class schedules were mailed to former students who had been enrolled in the Fall semester.

Call Adult Center

Persons desiring class schedules should call the Adult Center at PL 5-1162. They are also available in other community locations such as public libraries, elementary schools and high schools of the district.

More than 120 adult classes have been scheduled for the Spring semester. Particular efforts have been made to include new classes which are timely, interesting and of educational value. The program has been broadened in scope to include 10 areas such as academic, Americanization, arts and crafts, business, foreign languages, sewing, parent education, industrial education, physical education and other special interest classes.

A staff of more than 75 teachers and assistants will be assigned to three main locations. These are Westmoor, Jefferson and Terra Nova high schools. Other community locations are Daly City Community Center at Mission and Alp streets; Bayshore Housing, 111 Iwo Jima road, Bayshore; and the N. Lipman School, Solano street in Brisbane.

For more information, call the Adult Center at PL 5-1162 between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m.

A Good Way To Earn HS Diploma

Men and women who are planning to complete requirements for a high school diploma will find the Spring semester, starting Feb. 5, a good time to begin. Last year over 50 adults received their diplomas.

Principal Louis J. Martin stated that it is not unusual for serious adults to go to school three and four nights each week in quest of the valuable diploma.

400 Credit Students

Since the Jefferson Adult Evening School is the only adult school authorized to issue a diploma in northern San Mateo county, this program now boasts over 400 credit students who attend each week.

Most classes can be taken for credit leading to a diploma. Adults having appropriate work experience or previous high school credit may need only a few state requirements in order to graduate. A maximum of 50 credits are now given for the first time for the general educational development tests issued by the Armed Forces.

School Credits

Graduation is based on the successful completion of not less than 150 units of required work. They are: English, 30 units; U. S. history, 10 units; civics, 5 units; science, 10 units; mathematics, 10 units; driver education and first aid, 5 units; and electives, 80 units. Each subject is equivalent to five units of credit.

Adults who are interested in acquiring their diploma should contact Mr. Martin in order that a program can be planned. Mr. Martin may be contacted in the Adult Center by phoning PL 5-1162.

Spirituals, folk songs and madrigals will be sung by the San Francisco State College A Capella choir at the Church of the Latter-Day Saints at Hillside boulevard and Brunswick in a special concert on Friday, Feb. 2, at 8 p. m.

Under the direction of Dr. John Carl Tegnell, professor of music at the S. F. State College, more than 50 voices will be heard in the special program here. The State College A Cappella choir is currently on its winter tour throughout central and northern California.

The group has long been known in California and throughout the United States for the highest standards of performance. They have made frequent appearances with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra and have worked with such noted conductors as Enrique Jorda, Leopold Stokowsky, Bruno Walter and Pierre Monteaux.

Among the selections to be performed by the choir are: Berlioz' "L'Enfance du Christ," Purcell's "Welcome to All the Pleasures," and Brahms "Songs of Mary" as well as a wide selection of song stemming from various folk cultures.

The choir climaxes the tour with an on-campus concert at the college's main auditorium on Feb. 12.

Catholic Social Service Women Plan New Year

Jan. 31, Mrs. Edward Molkenbuhr, Jr., will sound the gavel at the first meeting of year, as well as the first meeting with a new board of officers for Catholic Social Service Auxiliary of San Mateo County.

Mrs. Molkenbuhr, who is the mother of six children, has experience at being the president of a large organization. She is former president of Westlake Catholic Women, of Our Lady of Mercy parish in Daly City. A resident of Westlake, Beverly Molkenbuhr is also a member of Little Children's Aid Junior Auxiliary and the Lawyers Wives Association.

The Rev. Thomas F. Regan, director of the Catholic Social Service, spoke of the many needs of the service at the recent installation luncheon. At the present time, the divorces outnumber the marriages in San Mateo County. Catholic Social Service is striving to stem this number.

Last year 10,000 professional hours were spent to help many families in the county. The purpose of the auxiliary is to contribute to the service so that this important work may continue.

This will be achieved by two fund raising activities which will be held during the ensuing year.

These fund raising projects will be discussed and planned at the meeting which will be held at St. Catherine's Church in Burlingame. The meeting will commence at 10:30 a. m. Mrs. Acton O'Donnell will act as hostess.

SAFE DRIVER

Engineers can supply your car with safe tires, safe brakes, and a safe steering mechanism. Only you, points out the National Automobile Club, can supply your car with a safe driver.

Catholic Women Are Ready For Fashion

All is in readiness for the Westlake Catholic Women to present their luncheon and fashion show, Champagne Days of San Francisco, this Saturday, Feb. 3, at the Fairmont hotel. Mrs. Frank Burns, chairman, announces that the show is a complete sell out — over 1,500 women will attend this outstanding event.

Mrs. Jack Rose and Mrs. Harvey Christensen, responsible for securing the fabulous door prizes, promise a long list of interesting gifts. The programs and table decorations are sure to be conversation pieces. Mrs. Raymond Fassler, Mrs. Robert Wagner, Mrs. Aldo Della Santa and Mrs. Edward Ewing are sure to receive many compliments for their efforts. Mrs. Dino Tonelli and Mrs. Rodney Hamblin have chosen 50 hostesses to guide the guests to their reserved tables. These two busy women have also obtained colorful favors for the tables. Mrs. Joseph Crowley and Mrs. Byron Davenport have been diligently "coaching" the models so as to present a most professional look on the runway. The models will have their hair styled by the H. Liebes beauty salon, and their make-up will be applied by beauty counselors.

One of the highlights of the day will be the awarding of the $200 H. Liebes gift order. The second award is an elegant mink-collared cashmere, and the third award is a weekend for two at Las Laureles Lodge in Carmel. Mrs. Walter McElroy and Mrs. Jack Maher will supervise these awards. Mrs. Thomas Daly will be the commentator for the fashion show.

Another phase in a continued training program for its associate ministers was announced today by the Watchtower Bible & Tract Society of New York.

Harold E. Casperson, presiding minister of the Daly City congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, revealed the semi-annual circuit gathering for the 20 congregations in San Francisco and the Peninsula will take place March 2, 3 and 4 at the Scottish Rite Auditorium in San Francisco.

"Assemblies of Jehovah's Witnesses have been an outstanding feature in our growth and development," stated Casperson. "These have supplied that need for wider fellowship and for spiritual stimulation to greater works of faith and worship," he continued.

Lawrence Kraushaar, circuit minister in this area, and Lester M. Dugan, the Watchtower Society's District supervisor in Northern California will be featured on the program. They will be assisted by local ministers in presenting instruction to the delegates.

Rev. H. Thompson To Speak At Goodwill

Reverend Harold Thompson of the Wesley Methodist Church, 1325 Southgate avenue, Daly City, will have a challenging assignment on Tuesday, February 20, when he conducts the 8 a.m. services at Goodwill Industries, 986 Howard Street in San Francisco.

To give an inspirational message to 275 people who have faced, if only temporarily, every conceivable physical and financial hardship is not easy. When members of the congregation belong to every faith, it is still more difficult. However, if the Reverend Thompson lives up to the long line of volunteer ministers who have gone before him, he will help the Goodwill workers start the day with courage and renewed hope.

Because disabled people of every creed and faith are employed at Goodwill Industries, each Tuesday throughout the year, ministers of different churches are asked to give their time and talent to the Tuesday chapel services. Although most ministers use the bible for a text, not once in 10 years has the theme of the sermon been duplicated.

Thursday morning services are conducted by the Reverend Arne Nilsen, the chaplain of Goodwill, who sets the remainder of the day aside for the workers who request spiritual guidance or help of any kind.

Also donating their services during February are Reverend Roy H. Austin of Calvary Baptist Church, 5655 Mission Street, who will speak on Tuesday, February 6; Reverend Gordon Birkey, program counsellor for the Methodist Church, who will occupy the pulpit on Tuesday, February 13, and Reverend Milan C. Brenkus, of Lebanon Presbyterian Church, 1021 Sanchez street in San Francisco, on Tuesday, February 27.

CENTRAL AMERICAN EDUCATION

In ending a discussion on a particular country, in a column such as this, one finds that there are many more experiences to relate, so many more memories to share, that any general summation could not possibly include all the vivid scenes left undescribed in the memory of the writer. Thus, as was the procedure with Mexico, short word pictures of scenes of Guatemala will be given in this article, with a second chapter from the book nearing completion, next week, on the lighter side of the trip. Following this, we shall journey into the Country of El Salvador with experiences related of a camera loss and the police department procedures, a military government, and a discussion of the publicized 14 richest families that are assumed to control the purse strings of the nation, along with the exciting experience of being in the exact location where a Castro invasion was expected. Word pictures of never-to-be forgotten memories and scenes of Guatemala follow:

The Mexican - Guatemalan border where the guards of each countries borded joined hands and arms in a pose for the North American's cameras, displaying understanding of the difficulties experienced by the two nations in years of the past, looking forward to joining hands for a better future.

A young Guatemalan couple, operating a small business establishment just two miles from the border. The cleanlines of the building, even though chickens were noted attempting to gain entrance into the kitchen. The delightful dinner served, and the eagerness to please.

At the same establishment, the meeting of a U.S. citizen, supervising a mining operation, who spent three hours with the group discussing his viewpoints and giving insights into the people and nation of Guatemala. His one remark in connection with the loss of business the U.S. is experiencing with this country, because of their unwillingness to accept the customs of Guatemala, insisting that all transactions be accomplished in a hurry. His remarks, later varified as true, of the inroads such nations as Japan and Germany are making because they are willing to speak the language, engage in social dinners and conversation, before discussing business. His relating of his marriage to a native of Guatemalan, and the beautiful devotion and love this marriage has brought him.

A small remote (and seldom visited) Guatemalan village, where the four teachers arrived after a travel ordeal taking ten hours to traverse about 97 miles, part of which was the El Tapon. The more than 80 youngsters that greeted them and led them to the local "pension," where they crowded about the teachers to try out their English which consisted of, "I love you," and "I am your good friend."—The spontaneous holiday from, everyone in the village, to see the North American Professors on their way.

In the same village the gracious family that were hosts for the teachers. Their bill, for which they apologized amounting to $1.23, for meals and lodging overnight. Their extreme delight in the tape recorder and the playback of their voices while various members of the family sang together. The first occasion to drink coffee which was served that had been boiled with sugar. The learning that in Guatemala the word "negro" was used in certain sections for black coffee, while "solo" was used in others.

Just prior to reaching the paved road leading to Guatemala City, having one of the scooters lose its chain after forging a stream. While repairs were being made witnessing a group of Indians moving furniture on their backs which sometimes exceeded five or six feet, in heighth, above their shoulders.

The feeling of relief and accomplished on arriving at the paved road, congratulating each other on crossing the most dangerous section of the trip successfully.

Fifty miles from Guatemala City stopping at a restaurant which resembled a giant thatched hut. Entering for dinner. Amazement at the beautiful setting including garden tables, piped music, and subdued lighting, accompained by white coated waiters. In the United States this restaurant would give competition to the many excellent ones in existence today.

In Guatemala City the quiet reserve of the people, but their unmistaken high regard, and interest in the United States. The feeling of love and friendship, displayed through the actions of not only chance acquaintances, but in the business establishments, ranging from record shops to automobile salesmen.

The special invitation by one of the actors to attend dress rehersals of a production by the little theater group consisting of English and U.S. amature actors, mostly from local embassies. The excellence of their performance in the production of the stage play, "Separate Tables."

The four Guatemalan girls serving their apprenticeship as waitresses and their enjoyment in attempting to communicate with the four school teachers in their (the teachers) limited Spanish.

A visit to the major newspaper, where the writer of this column was requested to type a story of the efforts of the expedition on a Spanish keyboard typewriter. The story was typed, but in English, which was transcribed and published in the newspaper, most accurately, by the editorial staff. Sentence structure changed a bit, but the meaning all present.

As in all countries, the terrific appeal of the small youngsters, their ready smile, their brown eyes which always seemed to contain a special sparkle of interest.

The lack, generally of the "beggar" as known in other Central American Republics. All appeared to have some article to sell, even though it might only be lottery tickets, trinkets, or wooden dolls.

The national Palace and the ancient church, built in the 1500's which stands at the side, —still in use today. The magnificent marble altars. The Stations of the Cross, in full life size reproductions. The beautiful paintings and religious artifacts.

The regret, each member felt in leaving such a hospitable country, the tears in the eyes of the friends they met as they bid "Goodbye, go with God," the lump in the throat of every member of the teacher group, as they grasped hands in friendship and a hope of being together again, in the near future.

The View From ..Behind The Badge

Written and Edited by Daly City Police Department

The Daly City Police Department is in receipt of a letter from Nat Hiken, producer of the television series CAR 54 WHERE ARE YOU? The letter, and the accompanying copy of a NEW YORK TIMES EDITORIAL is reproduced here without further comment by the writer.

Dear Sir:

I think you will be interested in this reprint, from the New York Times Editorial Page, about CAR 54, WHERE ARE YOU? for its portrayal of policemen. As the creator of this program, nothing said about this show has pleased me more than this.

We try to present a warm, entertaining comedy that shows policemen as people—their jobs, family life and personal interests. Although our stories are imaginary, we make every effort to portray police procedures accurately. We are lucky to have as our Technical Advisor, Detective (Retired) Harold Reidman, a veteran of many years in the N.Y. Police Department.

We hope that our series will continue to do, as the Times says, increase "Respect for policemen . . . by a portrait that reveals a grin."

Sincerely,
Nat Hiken

The Policeman's Unhappy Lot

In recent months the lot of this city's policemen has indeed been an unhappy one. Beer-bottle barrages, near-riots, unsettled issues of pay and moonlighting, alleged interference in local politics have added to their burdens. Despite the earnest proposals made in their behalf, none seems more likely to give them aid and comfort them than a new television comedy series titled "Car 54, Where Are You?," which deals with two ingenuous, warm-hearted gentlemen named Toody and Muldoon who happen to earn their livings as members of the New York Police Department. The basic premise of its humor is that policemen are people—a statement almost without precedent in American literature, yet one that inconceivably could revolutionize our approach to policemen and their to life in general.

Superhuman or Subhuman

Our fiction has always given us lawmen who were either superhuman or subhuman. Our detective fiction is filled with allusions to "dumb cops" who are left twiddling ten thumbs while private investigators solve their murders for them. Cartoons and comic strips are stocked with fruit-filching policemen, incompetents who cannot even keep youngsters from sneaking under the ball-park fence. The proletarian novels of the Thirties gave us the hardened sadist who was the servant of private, not public, interests. Early movies gave us the Keystone Cops, delightful clowns, but crude caricatures incapable of serious accomplishment. More recently we have been given the monumentally efficient and perpetually heroic policeman.

Answers to Shylock's Question

We have been given, in short, every kind of policeman except the kind we pay to love, honor, identify with and obey. The standard images rarely convey the impression that police work is occasionally dangerous, usually dull, always underappreciated. Our men in blue long ago must have lost hope of acquiring understanding. They might well paraphrase Shylock, saying, "Hath not a policeman eyes? Hath not a policeman hands, organs, dimensions, senses, affections passions?" Those of us who would immediately concede that policemen do indeed share these attributes with the rest of mankind must also be prepared to answer affirmatively Shylock's question, "If you tickle us do we not laugh?" We are accustomed to laughing at policemen, not with them. Surely it cannot be that every occupational group on earth except policemen encounters humor in their daily lives.

Part of the Human Comedy

Our respect for policemen is increased rather than diminished by a portrait that reveals a grin in place of the customary scowl. The searchlight of humor can illuminate without blinding. For the average citizen personal contact with the police is quite limited. Very few of us have ever been gangland chiefs, gold smugglers of international jewel thieves. The first policeman most of us encountered was the man who guarded the street crossing outside the elementary school, a pleasant symbol of our entry into a grown-up world. We who have little to fear from the police have nothing to fear from seeing them as part of the human comedy. As for the juvenile and adult delinquents who have demonstrated their disdain for the law, there is even less to be lost. Conceivably a humanized portrayal of policemen can soften their hostility.

The Finest at Their Finest

It is significant that public respect for New York's Finest reached new heights a year ago, when the presence of Khrushchev, Kadar and other Iron Curtain representatives necessitated long hours and more tedious duty. But it was not deeds of epic heroism that inspired this change. It was sympathy, sympathy for men who had been stuck with a dreary job. Respect for human beings comes more easily than respect for automatons. The warm humor generated by the heroes of television's mythical Bronx precinct can have the same effect, for they make the force seem like a happy place. The program might well be the soft answer that turns away the wrath of the bottle-wielding rioters and rebalances the skewed public image of the New York police.

Garden Village School News

On Friday, January 26, three teachers from Mill Valley School System visited Garden Village School.

They observed lessons presented by Mrs. Relyea, 3rd grade, Mrs. Schneider, 4th grade, and Mr. Madariaga, 5th grade.

This was an opportunity for teachers from other districts to exchange teaching techniques and practices.

A physical fitness program was inaugurated to emphasize participation in sports, and to give it a send off, the fourth and fifth grade teachers played a volleyball game against the all-stars from each of the fifth grade classes. Teachers won—but not without an ache or two.

Also initiated the use of the multi-purpose room for lunch facilities during cold and rainy weather. This prevents partially eaten food from being left in the rooms and helps make supervision more compact.

Parents and students participated in the March of Dimes campaign and Garden Village School contributed $110 to this cause, one of the two charitable organizations in which the school participates.

Westmoor Linguists Are Getting Around

Working hand in hand to present an interesting and challenging foreign language program at Westmoor, the French, Spanish and German teachers and the three language clubs have succeeded in bringing to the students the best possible language education.

New methods of instruction have revolutionized the language classes. Tape recorders and records have been utilized to bring fuller understanding of the foreign dialects. French instructor John Milton has introduced French recorded songs to his classes and made copies of them, enabling the students to sing along with Paul. In Milton's French classes, students memorize and recite dialogue into a tape recorder to gain practice in French conversation. In this way the student may hear and correct his own mistakes.

While they were studying Don Quixote, by Miguel Cervantes, the fourth year Spanish class attended the Russian production of this Spanish classic at the Vogue theater in San Francisco. In this way the class enriched its understanding of el gran Quixote. Howard Miguel, language department head and fourth year instructor, can give his students the benefit of a true Castillian background.

Activities that never want for imagination or enthusiasm are enjoyed by all language club members. While providing entertainment and recreation, these activities are also an entirely pleasant learning process. To celebrate Christmas, Westmoor's German Club created an authentic German program, complete with German cookies, jubilant songs, and gay Deutsch records. Following the program, there was an exciting game of charades, all in German. At another club meeting, students heard Marlene Dietrich sing German verses. Mrs. Cecilia Hinz, the German instructor and club advisor, being a native of Germany, can offer to her students the extra advantage of complete familiarity with the customs and culture.

Featured as focal point of one Spanish Club meeting, was a guest speaker, Annabella Aguilar, who spoke of her native Guatemala, its people and way of life. "Rancherq" music, provided by Norman MacDonald, advisor to the club, featuring guitars, violins and trumpets, also thrilled the club. High point of the fall semester was viewing the Spanish double feature, "El Dolor de Pager la Renta" and "Yo no Creo en los Hombres," accompanied by a Latin-American stage show, complete with singing and dancing. Mrs. Eunice Coupe also assists Mr. MacDonald with the club.

During an unusual evening out, the French Club enjoyed the traditional French dinner at a French restaurant. Going to the French consulate, Mr. Milton, club advisor, found French travel films and records for entertainment of French Club members. These films provided a fine "cultural hour" for these French students.

In every way, clubs and classes work together to give students a better language education. While Westmoor's language classes are giving language education and understanding, the language clubs are giving a change for interested students to enrich their understanding and enjoyment of the chosen foreign language.

Policeman Was Not One To Fool Around

A Pacifica reserve police officer brought his man back alive Sunday, Jan. 28 when the driver of a car, apparently intoxicated, almost ran him down twice while the policeman was directing traffic.

Reserve officer C. T. Baldinger, shot a hole in the rear tire of a car driven by Solomon Bryant, 22, 84 South Park street, San Francisco, and arrested Bryant on charges of assault with a deadly weapon (his own car) and drunk driving.

Baldinger reported he was directing traffic at th intersection of the Coast Highway and Linda Mar boulevard when an unidentified man told him another car had hit his in the rear and refused to stop.

The man pointed out the car approaching the intersection. Officer Baldinger said the car almost ran over him. He then caught a ride with another car, directing its driver to pass the car driven by Solomon. He again attempted to stop Solomon's auto and reported he was almost run over again.

This time Baldinger chased Solomon's car on foot and drew his gun, shooting the rear tire (aiming low so the slug would bounce into the tire).

He reported that Solomon and his companion both appeared unsteady on their feet.

Daniel Webster 4th Graders See Mission

The fourth graders in Mrs. Ruth Rogers' and Mrs. California Koenig's classes at Daniel Webster School visited Mission Dolores and the Mission Exhibit on display at the Cliff House on Friday, Jan. 19.

While in the Mission Chapel, the group sat still and quiet for one minute to feel the same feelings the California forefathers felt while surrounded by the beautiful hand carving in this place of early worship. They studied the early mission model and quietly walked through the winding walkways in the cemetery.

The group found the exhibit at the Cliff House interesting and were surprised to find that all of the missions were different in many ways even though they were all established primarily for the same purpose.

There were 56 children in all accompanied by Mrs. Ruth Rogers and some of the parents: Mrs. Wasserman, Mrs. L. Boring, Mrs. C. F. Meushaw, Mrs. Regina Munowitch, Mrs. B. Gill and Mrs. Glen Adams.

The San Francisco National Cemetery, in the Presidio of San Francisco, was the first national cemetery in the West.

Ben Franklin Class Learns Art Of TV

By Mona Baker

"Camerman" Richard Skinner moved the camera in for a closeup of "television performers" Donna Eberle and Janis Bell as "floor director" Forrest Richman directed the production while classmates looked on. The impromptu production was an exciting climax to a morning spent visiting San Francisco State's radio-television department by eight grade drama students from the speech-arts class taught by Miss Cecelia Pelicon at Daly City's Benjamin Franklin School.

Conducting the group around the department was Dr. George Steiner, who is general education advisor for the department and in charge of educational broadcasting.

The first step on their tour was the control room for the radio studio. They learned to "cue a record" and watched the operation of the control panel and turntables.

Adjourning to one of the classrooms the visiting students were greeted by Dr. Stuart W. Hyde, chairman of S. F. State radio-television department and one of the nation's leading educators in the field of television and radio. In his talk to the students, he stressed the need for a solid educational foundation as background for a career in either television or radio.

Following a special film on television directing and editing, the students visited the television department where they watched the college students making their final presentation before the camera. Half the group watched from the control room and the other half from the studio as the college students delivered their prepared commercials.

One of the finest radio-television schools in the United States, San Francisco State is justly proud of its excellent department which offers both a bachelor and masters degree. Many of their graduates have gone on to make their mark in both network and local television and radio.

Utilizing one of the best euipped radio studios of any college in the country, the students get actual broadcasting experience through the operation of the school's FM station KALW. They also have produced and appeared on many outstanding documentaries and panel programs which have been televised on local channels both educational and commercial.

In addition to courses during the regular school year, a special summer session is scheduled which is of particular interest to teachers. Plans are now being formulated for this year's session which will be given for six units during the coming summer.

As a career for both boys and girls, television offers an exciting future. As we have stressed so many times in our column we have only scratched the surface of the potential of this great medium. Ahead in the future is global television with 100% coverage of the entire world, wristwatch television, 3-D television and other fantastic developments that we haven't even dreamed of. What an exciting challenge to the young people of today if they select television as a career!

Expressions of best wishes and farewells were exchanged between departing student teachers and faculty members at Westlake School during a recent luncheon.

Completing their teaching assignments were Miss Jean Darrow, Mrs. Dorothy Hergert, Miss Diane Bradley and Diego Fernandez, all from San Francisco State College.

Serving as training teachers during this period, from Nov. 13 to Jan. 19, were Mrs. Beatrice Maine, Miss Gladys Bohleen, Miss Cecile Paynter and Mrs. Margaret Beber.

Miss Bradley and Mrs. Hergert are already under contract to teach in the Jefferson Elementary School District.

School Kids Hear Of Central America

Paris Simmons and Carl Hunter appeared for the 11th time at the Fernando Riveria School this past week, to attempt to bring a Central American Understanding to sixth grade students. Teacher sponsor of the program was John Luppino.

Commencing the program, Simmons brought out the stereotyped patterns that children obtained of a nation different than our own, then went on to prove that in trying to find things that are the same between cultures, the first step towards understanding is taken.

Hunter discussed the trip route and then explained the slides that were taken, emphasizing the hospitality of the people, and their great interest in the U.S.A., concluding with a question period.

The next program scheduled, outside of school appearances, will be February 15th, a benefit program for the Boys Club, sponsored by the South San Francisco Women's Club, in which Hunter, Simmons, Robert Daugherty and Victor Santa Maria, the four teachers who scootered through Central America will appear in a program of slides, films, music, and special presentation of a book on the lighter side of the trip.

Other engagements asked for, but not yet confirmed by the Ben Franklin teachers include a weeks program in Trinity County and a special presentation by Simmons, this summer, in Minneapolis.

Ankara has been the capital of Turkey only since 1923.

Mrs. Wm. Cottenham, Honorary Life and Founders Day chairman has planned the program for the evening and an interesting one it will be.

Foreign exchange students Jennifer Jones, Kathy Burns and Bill Gerst will report on their previous summer spent in European countries. The foreign exchange program is community sponsored. Business firms, clubs, organizations of all kinds and individual persons all contribute to the success of this program. Our three students have a very interesting evening planned with slides and fascinating information about the countries each one has visited.

Firemen Rescue Troubled Cat

A pot of beans, a hair dryer and cat with a fishhook in its paw were listed among reasons for Daly City fire department calls this past week.

A hair dryer fell on a bed and started a small fire Jan. 28 at 1188 S. Mayfair avenue, burning a few spots also on a rug.

At 4:22 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 28, firemen cleared the smoke from 272 Abbot, apartment 5, after residents left a pot of beans on a stove and smoked up the place.

Mrs. Clarence Ming, 120 Santa Barbara, summoned firemen Jan. 23 when her cat got a fishhook caught in its paw. Firemen obliged by extracting the hook.

Drapes, rug and venetian blinds burned when a fire started at 1496 South Mayfair on Jan. 26. The mother and daughter were at home and reported sick, but the daughter later admitted she started the fire with a candle, firemen said.

The boy was being held in county jail, pending transfer to the CYA, authorities reported, because he had twice escaped from custody within a month, last fall.

Linda Discards Braces, Crutches; Mother Praises March of Dimes

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Dorothy E. Breese, young Columbus, Ohio, mother, tells of the remarkable progress made by her daughter in overcoming the disability caused by a severe birth defect.)

By DOROTHY E. BREESE

My little Linda has done far more things in her five years than most people even dream of being able to do in an entire lifetime.

As the March of Dimes 1961 National Poster Child, she met President Kennedy in person and rode on a float in his inauguration parade. She starred in an hour-long television program with some of the country's most popular television and movie stars.

Linda has traveled from coast to coast and seen her picture in nearly every newspaper printed. She has autograph books filled with the signatures of celebrities and famous people she has visited.

These are just some of the things Linda has done that are beyond the reach of most of us. But the one thing we wanted most for her was something the average person takes for granted—the ability to walk alone and unaided.

There were many times during the years that my husband, Dean, and I thought that Linda would never be able to throw away her braces and crutches. And to be truthful, there were terrifying moments when we feared we might even lose her.

Linda was born with an opening in her spinal column, a condition known medically as spina bifida. As a result, her body was seriously affected from the waist down.

When she was only a few hours old, Linda underwent a delicate operation that partially corrected this condition. The surgery was performed at Children's Hospital in Columbus where subsequently The National Foundation with March of Dimes funds established the first of its Birth Defects Clinical Study Centers in 1959.

When she was nine months old, it was found that Linda had water on the brain, which has the medical name of hydrocephalus. This condition was treated by the insertion of a "shunt" tube which drains the excess fluid from the head into the blood stream.

Linda at 23 months after two operations for birth defects. And . . .

. . . Linda today, now able to walk without her crutches or leg braces.

You can imagine how much we worried about our little girl in those early days, because we knew she was never far from death. It could have come at any time. After all, 250,000 infants are born in this country each year with a significant birth defect and 21,000 of them die.

But Linda continued to improve. She received specialized treatment at the March of Dimes-supported center. She got her leg braces and crutches. Linda hated them, but she learned to use them.

When, though — if ever — would she be able to run and play with her sister and two older brothers and the other neighborhood children?

The answer to that question depended on Linda, her doctors, the rehabilitation therapists, and us. We all worked together. We worked long, and we worked hard, but it was worth it.

Only the other day, Linda took her first halting steps across our living room without her crutches or leg braces. It was an unforgettable experience. In my excitement, I telephoned the good news to everyone I knew—and probably quite a few I didn't know. It was a real shout-from-the-housetops event.

Linda has won through. She improves every day. Now her trips to the birth defects center have been cut to just one every three months. Best of all—we have been able to enroll her in kindergarten.

Dean and I and the children remember the gloomy days. We know that many other parents of afflicted children are going through similar days of anxiety and heartbreak right now. But we also know that The National Foundation-March of Dimes is looking for the cause and cure of birth defects. March of Dimes contributions led to the triumph over polio, and I'm a firm believer in the slogan that "Your Dimes Will Do It Again."

Vista Mar School News

The first edition of "The Weekly Express," published by Miss Peggy Dwyer's second and third grades, made its appearance in the Vista Mar School. In their study of communications, a visit to the local plant of Marchbanks Publications was one of the motivated factors which promoted this activity.

As is evident, creative writing, interviewing, composing, etc., are all integrated academic skills which are involved.

Articles in the paper report on class activities, book reports, science, as well as illustrations which accompany the articles written. Skills in the three R's are being developed and again "learning can be fun" is exemplified.

Mrs. Helen Boyle's kindergarten boys and girls have been studying about trains, boats, and airplanes. The subject was motivated by the presence of "The Little Engine That Could." The children have also been very anxious to build at the workbench and are now eagerly hammering, sawing, and nailing boats, airplanes and freight cars.

Discussion regarding various kinds of trains have involved many, as well as an interest in how freight or cargo is carried by boats and planes as well as trains. Dramatic play is enjoyed through the use of records such as "The Chugging Freight Engine" and "Real Train Sounds."

Many of the children enjoy pretending they are trains and airplanes while others sing or use rhythm instruments. Lois Leuseki's book about "Engineer Small" and his little train engine is a favorite story while some children thoroughly enjoy the fascinating pictures in their book, "Wheels, Sails and Wings," which is the story of transportation, written at the primary level and vividly illustrated and authentic.

Thomas Edison School Goes Scientific

The multi-use room of Thomas Edison school recently vibrated with scientific experiments, demonstrations and exhibits as Mrs. Kent's sixth grade class presented their "Science Fair," a variety of student science projects, for the benefit of the other upper grade classes in the school. Showers, Health And Sun—

The wheeler-dealer San Francisco Saints, who are rolling and haven't lost a game in ever so long, trundled into town last Tuesday night to put on a clinic and exhibition at W[illow]or High.

The thing was sponsored by the Recreation Department, who wanted plenty of kids to attend to watch the first-place pros and perhaps garner some words of wisdom to improve their own play.

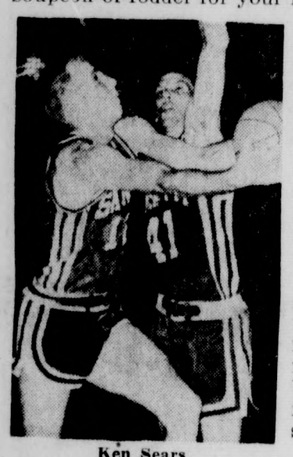

Turnout was adequate, but where were the kids?

Bob St. Clair showed up; also Mickey De Bernardi, Joe Verducci, Ed Frank, Ed Morgan, Frank Pacelli, Ed Tomasello—what a crew to be interested in basketball pointers!

Easily the most popular Saint, though far from the most talented, was R. C. Owens, the famous 49er employee. R. C. was cheered every time he got the ball. And the tall end of the 49ers seemed dwarfed by his Saint teammates. He looks to stand around six feet three inches, and it just doesn't measure up to Jim Francis at six ten, and Ken Sears and Mike Farmer at six nine.

The clinic part of the evening featured Gene Brown, showing defense; Sears on the jump shot, and Farmer with the long sets.

And for those of you who rabidly read this column for the latest in sports techniques, I have a priceless soupcon of fodder for your hungry jowls:

Ken Sears

According to one famous exponent of long-distance accuracy, success in dumping shots in from afar lies in the arch. The law states that: Within reason, the more arch, the better. The rationale for this is that as the ball approaches the hoop, the angle between ball and rim is minimized if the ball falls on more of a straight line from above, than a beeline from in front. If the ball hits the rim on a low shot it bounces away more readily than if it hits as it falls straight down.

Not having applied this inductively as yet, I only suggest it as a hypothesis in need of verification. And I hereby solicit information from anybody who cares to conduct experiments.

The Westmoor gym proved adequate for the Saints in all respects. Almost.

There was a little anxiety in the shower room. Some of the seven-footers didn't quite fit under the spigot and had a little difficulty washing anywhere except from the knees down. So you see, Tony, you wouldn't really want more heighth on the Rams, would you?

I've been wondering what it was because I've been pretty sure all along that it wasn't a dance, but when a guy walked in here last Tuesday and demanded that we run a Chubby Checker article on the sports page, I was forced to ask this "Believer" just WHY he regarded this bowlful of jelly as a sports figure.

"Because the twist is Exercise," he said. Then in the sententious tones of a tout to a tourist, and with a meaningful squeeze of my arm, he whispered, "Chubby says that if we all did the twist we would be a lot healthier."

Aaaughh!

And the gods were pleased and sent down great rays of sunlight for the opening of Our Own Golf Course in Cypress Hills Monday.

Large quantities of food and booze kept everybody happy, hot and talkative as the Who's Who in Daly City foursomes teed off. Everybody was there. Around 2 p.m. Monday DC must have resembled a Nevada ghost town. The mayor, the whole city council, the police and fire chiefs, the city manager, rec dept heads, various policemen; in fact I started to worry that they might have forgtten to leave anybody to run our town.

Or maybe they've got it now so that it runs itself.

And I'm sure that never before had the gentle slopes of Colma seen so many people gathered together —alive.

Fouls Hurt Foe—

For some unknown reason, South San Francisco tried to beat Jefferson with a man-to-man defense last Friday, and didn't quite make it. One result of the attempt was that the Warriors lost two men on personal fouls in the waning minutes of the game—precisely the time the game was decided.

The Indians got off fast to a 12-6 first period lead, but it dwindled away during the next frame to a 21-21 halftime tie. Only the eye of Rich Reitz during the third period kept Jefferson in a position to ultimately win it in the fourth. The lanky Jeff forward canned eight third-frame points to keep Jeff close as the period ended with South City leading, 39-35.

It was in the fourth that the South City strategy of trying to contain the running Indians with a man-to-man defense proved fatal. Three starting Warriors went out during the frame. Forward Don Stout and guard Jim Barrett fouled out, and center Rich Holloway went out with an injury with 2:06 left.

Larry Keeling with eight fourth-period points led the Indians to a 16-11 period edge, and the come-from-behind victory.

"One of Keeling's best games," said Mike Orlich. "He hustled all the way, got 13 points and 11 rebounds."

The Indians were also helped by the return of Bob Brush, 6 foot 2 inch starter who had been out since Christmas. He continually was able to clear the boards and also chipped in with five points.

The Indians take on the Mills Vikings, Wednesday, at Mills, and return to Westmoor on Friday to play Capuchino.

Cypress Hills Has Kick-off

Cypress Hills Golf Course in Colma, described by experts as the finest nine-hole layout in northern California, opened to the public officially Tuesday Jan. 30.

A special preview opening held on Monday was attended by San Francisco and Peninsula sports writers, civic officials and at least a dozen of the Bay Area's top professional and amateur golfers.

They were guests of owners of the 50-acre development including Gus Pedemonte of Hillsborough and the club's pro, genial Bob Silvestri, one of San Francisco's finest shotmakers.

The course is located midway between South San Francisco and Daly City just off Hillside Blvd. on gently rolling slopes of the Crocker Hills. The picturesque layout was designed by Jack Fleming, famous golf course architect. It features well-placed trees along the fairways, tricky greens and tantalizing sandtraps.

The course measures 2200 yards in length with six par-3 holes and three par-4's. But the average golfer will use every club in his bag in touring the fairways.

"The par-30 (for men) makes it a tough course even for top-notch golfers. I find it a real challenge," said Silvestri, three-time winner of the San Francisco city championship, California State titleholder and co-winner of the 1961 Bing Crosby (Pro-Am) Open.

In addition to the attractive course, the owners have provided a plush clubhouse with restaurant and fully-equipped pro shop.

DARWIN HAANEN (behind 34) lofts ball toward bucket as Indians Don Boden (34), Larry Keeling (24) and Stu Sibley (54) move in for rebound. Game against Hillsdale was played at Westmoor, Wednesday Jan. 24. The Knights beat Jeff 50-44.

CLOSE GAMES MARK REC LEAGUE PLAY

Coach Tom Dillon's Holy Angels Lions took their second win in a row this week. They did so at the expense of the OLM Gaels. While the game was a real close one, 16-15, it was a real victory for the Lions, who were picked to finish in the cellar. Scott of the Lions was high man with 8 points. Steve Roche led the OLM Dons to a 31-11 win over the PAL Eagles. Steve collected 11 points (outstanding for a 5th grader). Surprise of the week was the PAL Deputies' win over the OLPH Hornets, 19-17. The Deputies, coached by George Pedroni and Rich Brewer, entered the league with no practice and did not figure to win a single game. Sharpshooting Carlos Garcia hit 9 points. OLPH played well but tired late in the game due to lack of substitutes.

Sixth Grade

The Hilltoppers from OLPH chalked up another one this week as they chilled the PAL Wildcats, 19-16. Gudelj accounted for 10 Hilltopper points. The PAL Bears gave the hoops a real workout as they cut down the BYA Little Giants, 6-12. Proctor tallied 16 points for the Bears. J. Duryea of the OLM Hurricanes collected 15 points and teammate S. Green nailed 14 during their win over the previously unbeaten BYA Hawks. Final score was Hurricanes 40, Hawks 17.

Seventh Grade

The PAL Tigers defeated the PAL Saints, 48-27. Mike Wynne of the Tigers and De Luca of the Saints tied for high-point honors with 13 each. The OLPH Crusaders fell before the PAL Warriors, 67-33. Bob Deanas of the Warriors hit a big 18 points while teammates Mark de Bernardi and Jeff Long followed with 13 each. Parodi was high for OLPH with 10. The PAL Lakers spread their scoring over the entire team as they took the Holy Angels Falcons, 32-18. The OLM Angels remained undefeated as they won out over the Ben Franklin team, 26-16. Davis of the Angels was high with 11 points.

Eighth Grade

New Pisa continued their winning ways this week with a 46-14 victory over the OLPH Warriors. Cook hit 13 for New Pisa. Chalmers and Benson matched 10-point contributions as their PAL Pistons won over the BYA Darts, 35-23. Heick and Mason hit 7 each for the Darts. Ben Franklin Rockets sunk the OLM Tankers, 38-33. R. Davis of the Rockets was high point man with 9.

Orlich To Coach BB "Team"

A usually reliable spokesman who asked that his name be withheld reported yesterday that overtures have been made to Mike Orlich, head basketball coach at Jefferson High, to coach a team of Northern Peninsula League coaches in a basketball game against coaches of the South Peninsula League.

Orlich reportedly has accepted the offer to mentor the "contest."

The game will be the feature of an all-sports evening at Hillsdale High School, March 10, with all funds going to sponsor a snow trip for 25 physically handicapped and 25 mentally retarded San Mateo County youngsters.

In addition the evening will include yell leaders and pom-pom girls from all the high schools, and a queen to represent all the schools.

Thophies have been donated by local merchants for the participants. Admission will be free—contributions to be collected in envelopes that will be distributed. All proceeds to go to the "Handicapped Children's Snow Program."

Rams Tip Tigers To Tie For Third

It's SPARE TIME

at Westlake Bowl

Police Chief Petrocchi has again rounded up a team that promises to be a contender in the current Bowling Proprietors Association of America Team Handicap Tournament which runs until March 4. Last year's Police Athletic Team took home almost four hundred dollars in prize money in this tournament and in the first squad of this year's tournament, the PAL team posted a 2988 total to take the early lead. Over three hundred teams have registered to participate this year on weekday league times while many more teams are being formed to participate in the weekend squads. The entry fee of $3 per bowler with many thousands of dollars in prizes makes an interesting combination for Westlake Bowlers.

Tom Franza became the third bowler in Westlake history to better the 700 mark in league play. Starting with ten consecutive strikes in his opening game, Tom left the four pin on his eleventh ball then failed to convert it and ended with a 288 game to become a member of the exclusive Westlake 275 Club. Tom received his belt and buckle as evidence of his membership. In his second game Tom shot 215 and with 141 in the eight frame of his last game needed three strikes in a row to better the 700 mark. Tom was up to the task as he made his turkey for a 199 game and 702 series. Other 700 shooters in Westlake honor roll are Ron Anquillo with 714 and Tony Miley with 708.

Katie Flanagan led the A-1 Nursery ladies league last week with a 204 game and 556 series while Mary Adams posted an even 200 game.

Jim Marston is the eight week leader in the Saturday Swiss Singles with a total of 39 points to date. Tied with Jim with 39 points but less of a money winner is Frank Hubert, while one point behind is Bert Heineman. Other contenders for the trophy for leader after ten weeks are Fred Von Husen and Lefty Girardot with 31, Don Wroten with 29 and Bert Harrington with 27. The tenth week's play will be held next Saturday at 2 p.m.

Pat Morrissey continues to increase her average in the Corpus Christi Mothers Club League and last week led the group with a 171 game and 426 series.

Joe Crowley became tired reading about wife Betty and her accomplishments on the lanes so he led the Ball and Chain Mixed Fives last week with a 203 game and 588 series.

The new YWCA has changed its bowling time from 1 p.m. to 9:30 a.m. on Tuesdays to be bowling at the same time as the current YWCA League. Maureen Cano bowled the all time high game for her career to lead the group with a 225 effort on her way to a 521 series. In the same league Cobbie Brush converted the extremely difficult 3-7-10 split. All members of the League are looking forward to the monthly fashion show luncheon which will be held Thursday, February 1 and will be in the form of bridge, canasta afternoon following the luncheon at noon. Reservations may be made by calling PL 6-7370.

Al Palmer took a rest in his third game in the American Masters 900 Scratch League after games of 225 and 212 but managed to post a 632 series to lead the group. Dave Lorin also bettered the six hundred mark with a 602 total.

The scratch division in the January Powder Puff Derby was won by Mary Lawson with 542 while Emily Drago bowled 514 to take second honors. In the handicap division Tillie Franzoia took the spot with a 641 total while Carol Fox had a 632 total for second place. The Powder Puffs for February will be held on the fifth and nineteenth at 1:15 p.m.

Jim Jolly has started on the comeback trail as he led the men in the Southgate Mixed Fives with 215 and 525 while Smiling Pat Marks led the ladies with a 210 game and 591 series.

The Westlake Knolls League had a new leader last Wednesday as Mike Mooney shot a 197 game and 537 series to lead the way.

Another comeback was registered in the National Masters 900 Scratch League as Ross Guieb returned to league play with a high game of 236 and a 614 series.

The members of the St. Emydius Mothers Club League had two things to cheer about last week as Mary Murphy led the scoring with 166 and 459 while Thelma Glaser converted the difficult 5-10 split.

A FIRST DAY ACE!

It didn't take long for the first ace to be fired at the new Cypress Hills Golf Course. In Monday's inaugural for the sports crowd, Tal Smith, pro at the Claremont Club, canned his perfect shot on the 165-yard sixth hole. He was touring with the foursome of amateurs Bob Hanna and King Ewing, and pro Dave Cogdeli.

Smith went on to be the only par-breaker of the day with a two under, 28.

Jeff Pins Westmoor

Jefferson wrestlers defeated Westmoor last week, 34-21, to run their won-lost record to two wins and two losses. Indians have been defeated by Terra Nova and San Mateo, while defeating Aragon and Westmoor.

Jim Belvin, Jeff's red-hot 145 pounder, again led the way with a pin over Dave Pass in the best bout of the day. Belvin is now undefeated in dual meet matches. He lost only one match this season when pinned by Cullop of San Mateo for the novice championship. However, Belvin turned the tables on Cullop the following week by pinning him in the Jeff-San Mateo meet. Bob Kaspar, Sam Ennon, Daryl Crist and Jim Belfrage have been outstanding for Jefferson. Belfrage took third place in the PL Novice Tournament 103-pound class.

Results of the Jeff-Westmoor bouts:

95—Arizia (W) pinned Shaddox (J).

103—Belfrage (J) dec. Palagios.

112—Calangelo (W) dec. Archuleta.

120—Weisner (J) dec. Serio.

127—Clark (W) dec. Larios.

133—Monge (J) pinned Davis.

138—Haroun (J) pinned Reade.

145—Belvin (J) pinned Pass.

154—Kaspar (J) pinned Asaro.

165—Ennon (J) pinned Sibastiani.

175—Bowers (W) pinned Barnett.

191—Attel (W) pinned Lobsinger.

Unlimited—Crist (J) pinned Bosberry.

Tigers Have Yet To Win

Showing some of the bench strength pointed out last week in these pages, the Westmoor Rams pulled slowly away from an under-manned Terra Nova quintet to win a game played last Friday in Pacifica, 63-39.

The Tigers, evidentally trying to erase the memory of last Wednesday's first quarter against Aragon— a quarter in which they scored exactly 10 points—got off quickly against the Rams and held a first period lead, 15-9.

Almost that same edge went to the Rams in the second period, 16-8.

Then in the third period Westmoor behind the shooting of reserves Ted Tobby and Steve Schmuck, plus regulars Gary Allard and Mike Daniels, ran up 23 points to put the game away.

Coach Tony Giammona singled out both Tobby and Schmuck after the game.

"They'll both be on the starting five on Wednesday," said Giammona.

And a tougher time to break into the line-up couldn't be found, for Wednesday the Rams must take on the league leading San Mateo Bearcats, currently all alone in first place with a 7-1 record.

"I think we have a chance against them," said Giammona. "We plan to slow them down."

San Mateo is a running, pressing, always passing team, and it's Westmoor's plan to force them to slow down and play the more deliberate type game that the Rams favor.

Game time in Westmoor's gym is 3:15 p.m.

In the 130 action against Terra Nova, Westmoor came out ahead 43-32. The Rams were led by Tito Torres, with 17 points, and Mike Pike with 13.

Last Wednesday against Burlingame the Rams lost 57-43 in a game won on the boards.

"They killed us on the boards," said Giammona. "It was Wallace (six foot eight inch Burlingame center Hense Wallace) and all that heighth."

The Rams two big boys, Allard and Lucke were able to get the ball off the boards only 12 times. Usually they get that many apiece. In addition Gary Allard, the Ram's season high point man hit for only one field goal. Only the outside shooting of forward Mike Daniels kept the Rams close. Daniels was high for the game with 18 points. Jim Lucke hit for 11.

Westmoor's lightweights won a nip and tuck affair 45-43.

JEFFERSON VS. HILLSDALE. Indian's Rich Reitz shoots over unsuccessful block by a Knight defender. Heavy hitting by the Indians during this third period pulled them even, but a fourth period edge by Hillsdale sewed up the game 50-44. Other Indians are Stu Sibley (left) and Larry Keeling (right). Knight defender is John Stoscher (45).
